For the Roundabout.

Acrostic.

Low in peace our darling sleeps
In sweet repose, from sin and pain;
Thousands follow winter sheets,
Thousands weep for thousands slain.

Let the angels shout for joy,
Earth can never claim our boy.
Can grief and sorrow pass away
Lest the righteous "watch and pray?"

All our troubles soon will end,
Under grief or under joy,
Day by day will ever send
Earnest thoughts of darling boy.

The Murder.

The election had passed off very quietly, last Monday, and our citizens, after congratulating themselves that no fights had taken place, returned to their homes for the night feeling relieved that another occasion which fills our streets with drunken men had passed without serious trouble, but Tuesday morning as they repaired to their several places of business they were met by the announcement that a man had been killed the night before, and that his body then lay stark and stiff in the court-house, the murderer being still at large, with no clue to his whereabouts. All were shocked to know that another foul blot had been put upon the name of our little city, which is fast becoming famous as the scene of such tragedies. About 12 o'clock on Monday night Officers Henry Brown and David Kirkpatrick heard pistol shots in Crawfish Bottom, and, on going to learn the cause, found Clint, Montague lying dead upon the pavement at the corner of Clinton and Wilkerson streets, shot in the head, the ball having entered near the left ear. No one was near him and the streets were deserted. Coroner McEwan was notified and had the body removed to the courthouse, where an inquest was begun at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. Numerous persons from the immediate locality were examined, most of whom knew nothing. Some had heard the pistol shots and loud talking, but saw nothing. Theodore and Robert Davis were among the number, and knew as little as the rest. It looked as though it was to be a repetition of the murder of the negro on the Owenton 'pike last winter—mystery.

Late in the afternoon Harry Mordecai, a colored boy, was called to the witness stand, and was the first person that knew anything, and what he told let a flood of light upon one of the most cold-blooded murders that has been committed in this community for years. He said he was near the corner of Washington and Clinton streets when he heard two shots in the alley near the gas works, and went over to Theodore Davis' corner when Davis told him to come and go with him; that he and Davis went to the corner of Clinton and Wilkerson streets together, and there they found Bob Davis, Clint, Montague, Will, Hall and a man he did not know, and heard Hall say "somebody has been shooting around here and cut my head." Some one else said "Clint, they fired right out of your crowd." Theodore Davis here came up and asked Hall if that was him; he then heard Montague say he wouldn't shoot anybody, and some one told him to go away. He then saw Hall fire upon Montague and saw him fall. When these facts came out there was a hurrying to and fro of officers, and Theodore and Robert Davis were arrested and placed in jail, while Messrs. M. H. P. Williams, Jr., and Lewis Cox mounted their horses and left for Peak's Mill in search of Hall. Theodore Davis was again brought before the Coroner's jury, and for a man that was so ignorant of any of the facts connected with the killing in the morning he knew a great deal, for he corroborated all the testimony of Mordecai. Bob Davis was also brought back, but was so drunk that nothing could be gotten out of him, except that he was so drunk the night before he did not know where he was. The inquest was adjourned until Wednesday morning and the Davises placed in jail.

After the adjournment of the inquest George Hall was arrested by City Marshal Todd and Sheriff Williams, and he turned out to be the man Mordecai did not know, who was present at the killing. About one o'clock Wednesday morning Messrs. Williams and Cox returned from their hunt for Will, Hall without their man, having ridden about twenty-five miles through as rough country as there is in this county.

Wednesday morning George Hall was examined before the Coroner's jury, and testified that he, Will, Hall and Bob Davis met Clint, Montague at the corner of Wilkerson and Clinton streets, and that Bob Davis accused Montague of having shot into the crowd, which he denied, and then Theodore Davis ran up with a pistol in his hand, gave Bob something and told him to do his own fighting; that he saw Montague was about to be killed, and turning round, was walking away when the shot was fired and did not see who shot.

The most of Wednesday afternoon was occupied in examining witnesses that had been before the jury on Tuesday and professed to know nothing, and it was astonishing to hear how much they could remember that they had forgotten to tell when first examined. The inquest was then adjourned until Thursday morning, in hopes that Will, Hall would be found and brought in to give his statement, but he failed to put in an appearance, and the jury, upon assembling Thursday morning, without examining other witnesses, brought in a verdict that Montague came to his death from a pistol shot, the pistol being in the hands of either Wm. Hall or Theodore Davis, but that they believed Theodore Davis. William Hall and Robert Davis, were all concerned in the murder.

The examining trial of the Davises was begun yesterday afternoon, and is still in progress.

Mr. Jas. M. Todd has again placed us under obligations for late files of Denver, Col., papers.

Dr. U. V. Williams is preparing to erect stables upon the lot he has recently purchased from Col. J. W. Hunt Reynolds, on Steel street, South Frankfort. He will in a short time erect a neat frame residence also.

A negro was riding one of the L. C. & L. Express Company's horses to the shop to have him shod, Thursday morning, when that animal, feeling a little frisky, reared up and fell on the rider, and as a result both the negro and the horse have skinned knees.

We are under obligations to Messrs. White & Averill for a delicious watermelon grown by them. Persons wishing to purchase one of these superior melons can always find them at Mrs. Bohannan's, George Thomson's, or Mrs. Mandlehr's. Messrs. White & Averill sell them only by wholesale to these parties.

At the meeting of the Good Templars Thursday night the following officers were installed to serve the ensuing six months:

Miss Hattie Buckley, W. V. T.
J. A. Cain, W. S.
Will Martin, W. F. S.
Miss Mima Humphries, W. T.
John Hutchison, W. M.
Miss Susie Mayhall, W. I. G.
Willie Gordon, W. O. G.

Meeting of the Tobacco Men.

As the tobacco men will meet at Mr. Jno. L. Scott's office next Saturday, August 14th, for the purpose of organizing a tobacco warehouse company, this is the last opportunity we shall have to speak a word in favor of this movement.

Belle Point has already offered to give one of her most valuable lots if the warehouse is located in that place. We know of another friend of the enterprise who is willing to subscribe a large brick kiln as stock, at a fair value of the brick—we presume the kiln has nearly enough brick to build the warehouse. Now if some enterprising man, who has wagons and teams, would take stock for hauling the brick and furnishing the sand, and the brickmasons and carpenters would club together and build the warehouse for stock, and the large saw-mill men would hold a meeting and jointly agree to take stock to the amount of the lumber and shingles, the warehouse would be a fixed fact, with money enough on hand left over to make advancements on crops, and handle all the tobacco raised in this and all the adjoining counties.

There is money in this business. We wonder that it has not been started years ago. Let all who have money, materials or labor to subscribe, and who want to take part in this progressive and money-making business, be on hand at 11 o'clock next Saturday morning.

Dr. T. T. Bradford's Cure for Rheumatism, Gout, and Neuralgia. This is not a nostrum, but a preparation compounded by an experienced physician with a view to the cure of the above complaints. To any who are suffering we offer this remedy as a sure cure, and can furnish the most reliable testimonials from persons who have used it and been relieved. Price fifty cents per bottle. Further information given by the sole proprietor, Dr. T. T. Bradford, Augusta, Ky. For sale by W. H. Averill, Frankfort, Ky. John D. Park & Sons, wholesale agents, Cincinnati, O. feb21-6m.

WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT.

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky,
as second class mailable matter.

CLAUDE BUCKLEY.

GED. A. LEWIS.

BUCKLEY & LEWIS.
Editors and Publishers.

FRANKFORT, AUGUST 7, 1880.

TERMS.

The WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT is published every Saturday, at one dollar per annum, invariably in advance.

Six months, 50 cents; three months, 25 cents. Money may be sent by post-office money order, or registered letter at our risk.

Notices of Marriages, Births, and Deaths inserted free of charge. Obituary notices will be charged for at our regular advertising rates.

The usual services at the Baptist Church to-morrow.

There are so few convicts in the penitentiary now that it looks lonesome.

We will give a year's subscription to the ROUNDABOUT for the largest watermelon brought to this office in the next three weeks.

The post-office at Elmville, in this county, has been abolished, and mail for that neighborhood should be addressed to Peak's Mill. A new post-office has been established at A. C. Scott's store, in the Bald Knob precinct.

There was a Church Sociable at the residence of Mr. Frank Wilson, in this county, Thursday night. The grounds were beautifully illuminated, over one hundred guests were present, and enjoyed themselves very much. It was quite a pleasant affair.

The thirty-second session of Greenwood Seminary will commence on Monday, September 6th. It is unnecessary to say anything in regard to this time-honored institution, as Mrs. M. T. Runyan is too well known as an educator in this community. We therefore simply call your attention to her advertisement in another column.

By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that the next session of Kentucky Eclectic Institute will begin on the 6th of September. It is the intention of the managers to make this institution a permanent high school, one that will furnish pupils, when they leave the city school facilities for obtaining a classical and higher English education, and a course of study will be planned especially for their benefit. Experienced teachers have been employed and this old established institution of learning will enter upon its nineteenth semi-annual session with the determination of all concerned to make it a permanency in Frankfort.

The mercury dropped down to 60° Wednesday morning.

Everybody will have to pay to get into the fair next month. The free list has been suspended.

Since the post-office in this city has been a money order office 27,233 orders have been issued.

The yield of the wheat crop throughout this county will not average more than twelve bushels to the acre.

Forty-two of the convicts sent out several weeks ago to work on the Big Sandy Railroad were returned to prison Tuesday, being unfit for work.

The Epperson property, in South Frankfort, was offered for sale last Monday, and the most of it sold, but the prices not suiting the heirs it was all withdrawn.

Mr. Thomas Bedford, of this county, threshed a field of wheat last week which yielded 26 bushels to the acre. This is the best yield we have heard of from a crop in this county this year.

The gentle rain the farmers were so anxious for last week fell Tuesday, and has done a vast deal of good to the corn crop, which was needing it badly. Roasting ears will now be plentiful.

If there is not a number of persons presented to the next grand jury for false swearing it will not be because there were not different tales told before the coroner's jury this week by the same parties.

The L. C. & L. Express Company have exchanged the old grey and the small wagon they have been using in this city for a large wagon and a splendid span of horses, the whole rig being a $1,000 layout.

If that gas post had been placed on the corner of Clinton and Wilkerson streets a little sooner, perhaps it would not have been so hard to get at the true inwardness of the murder committed Monday night.

Blind Dave swayed back and forth and made music on the street corners Thursday, and from the shouts that proceeded from the crowds that surrounded him we should judge that his songs were new and amusing.

Monday afternoon Mr. Jas. F. Daily eloped with Miss Mollie Callery, of this county, and the two were made one flesh in this city by Rev. J. B. Tharp. The happy couple then left for the Forks of Elkhorn to visit friends.

Mrs. Belle Hogan has been elected to the position of teacher at the Feeble-minded Institute recently made vacant by the marriage of Miss Sallie French.

A party of ladies and gentlemen came down from Versailles Wednesday, saw the sights about the city, and took their dinner at Lake Park. They had a pleasant day for their ride, which was taken in a furniture car.

Johnnie Hutchison says the story about his having halted Gov. Blackburn and the ladies, at Crab Orchard, and refused to let them through the lines is all right except the cuss words. He's a Sunday-school scholar and don't talk that way.

Local Option has been in force at the Stamping Ground, Scott county, for two years, and the vote upon the question was taken a second time last Monday, at the instance of the saloonists, when the temperance men again triumphed, and those who want whisky will have to go away from home to get it.

A sovereign who had absorbed considerable stagger fluid, last Monday, went to the poles to vote and there met a friend who had been making observations through the bottom of a glass. No, I insisted that his friend should come up and vote for Hanks for President, but the friend maintained that Garcock was the best man and he would vote for him. After wrangling over the matter for awhile they were told by a third party that the presidential election did not take place till November, and concluded to wait until then, when it is hoped they will be sober enough to get the names of their respective candidates straight.

One of the inmates of the Feeble-minded Institute, a little girl about 12 years of age, concluded last Friday afternoon that she wanted to see her mother, and set out on foot, about one o'clock to try to find her. She had been gone about half an hour when she was missed, and search for her instituted. Late that evening it was learned that she was seen walking down the railroad towards Louisville, and persons were notified at the different stations to watch for her coming. Saturday morning a dispatch notified Dr. Stewart that she had been found at Bagdad, and taking the early morning train down, he returned with her at nine o'clock.

Miss Maggie Rodman, only daughter of Jos. L. Rodman, Esq., died very suddenly at the residence of her parents, in this city, Wednesday afternoon. She was taken ill Tuesday afternoon about five o'clock, and Dr. W. B. Rodman was called in and succeeded in relieving her, but Wednesday morning at eleven o'clock she was taken with a congestive chill and died in two hours. Her death fell with crushing effect upon a family circle of which she was the idol, and has filled with deep sadness the hearts of her many young friends. She was just blooming into womanhood and was a great favorite with all who knew her intimately. Her funeral took place from the Baptist Church Thursday afternoon, Elder P. S. Fall delivering an impressive discourse, and was more largely attended than any funeral that has taken place in this city for years.

Messrs. W. J. Chinn and Silas M. Noel have purchased the McAuliffe property on the south-east corner of Main and Ann streets and are remodeling and improving it considerably. The main building will be raised to three stories, the upper portion being fitted up as a residence, and the first floor will be divided into two store rooms. The L portion will be divided into two residences. John Haley, the boss reconstructor of old houses, is doing the work.

WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT.

Avoid bad company and let whisky alone, boys, and you won't get into trouble.

Forty-two convicts left this city Thursday morning, under guard, to take the place of those employed on the Big Sandy Railroad who were unfit for duty and returned to the penitentiary several days ago.

A number of witnesses were examined before the coroner's jury Tuesday, who had not seen or heard a thing about the murder. Wednesday afternoon these same witnesses were recalled and it was astonishing how much they knew about the killing. What was the cause of it? Had they a revelation?

The trotting race Saturday afternoon was well attended, and, although the time was slow, the boys enjoyed the fun. The following is the summary:

Sallie Johnson.....	1 3 1
Madge.....	3 1 2
Hughes.....	2 2 5
Gloster.....	4 5 4
Mastin.....	5 4 3
Maud S.....	6 6 6

Time—3:12½; 3:04½; 3:06½.

After the trotting race was over Messrs. W. C. Bedford and Lewis Cox made up a quarter race, which was won by the former, although his horse flew the track and time was lost in getting it back again.

For this afternoon there is a midget trotting race between horses belonging to Messrs. John Ayres and Leslie Collins, two best in three. It is expected that in addition there will be several quarter and half mile running races.

Several weeks ago John Vonderhicle, a convict, made his escape from the penitentiary, and, after two or three days, was recaptured near Beard's Station. While at large he stole some clothing from Dr. Dowden, at LaGrange, and a little negro girl was ravished and murdered near Brownsboro, and he was suspected of having committed the crime. He would have been hung by a mob had it not been for the officer that had him in charge running him off. When captured he had no shirt on and no traces of his crime were found upon him. He claimed he had worn no shirt since discarding the one he had on when he left the prison; but a shirt was missed by Dr. Dowden, and the citizens of LaGrange have been searching for it ever since the crime was committed. It was found Monday, hid in a patch of briars, and was covered with blood. Dr. Dowden and his wife both identified the shirt, and it seems to be pretty well settled that Vonderhicle is to be tried for murder. We understand that a petition for a special term of court to try him has been numerously signed at LaGrange, but whether it will be ordered we are unable to say. In the meantime Vonderhicle is locked up in his cell in the penitentiary.

A Card.

Editor Roundabout:

Please permit me to say a few words pertaining to the card of Mr. Murray. He starts out with the statement, that on July 10th he counted eleven men at work on Cedar Dam, which I don't doubt. At that time I don't suppose they were thoroughly organized. I will state that on the 30th of July there was 106 men at work on the dam, and everything was working systematically. Then he speaks of the inexperience of the Timber Inspectors. He may be right in his statement, but I will say this much: I saw them inspecting timber and I thought the inspection was pretty rigid, and I think I have some knowledge of timber, as I have been a sawyer for 25 or 30 years. He says that men get dissatisfied and leave; the best answer I can give is, it's too much like work, and if a man has not got considerable vim about him he won't stick. As to the number of time keepers, I don't know of but one at Cedar, and that is Mr. James T. Duvall. Then he speaks of there being no carpenters. At the time he was at Cedar there were no carpenters needed. At present Mr. Fisher, the gate builder is there and Mr. Alagan, who is an experienced workman. I would like to say more but I think there has been too much said for any good to grow out of it.

Very respectfully,

JOHN L. JONES.
